

GDPR Disclosure Policy

At the International Homicide Investigators Association, Inc. (IHIA), we understand that privacy is an important issue for visitors to our Website, and your privacy is equally important to us. This Privacy Policy ("Policy"), which is part of our Terms and Conditions, covers the treatment of the personal information we collect when you visit this website or any other website we operate (the "Website").

If you visit or interact with our Website, you are signifying to us that you consent to this Policy and the ways we collect, use, process and transfer your personal data as described here. We may change this Policy, and will post any changes here. If you continue to access or use the Website after we post the changed Policy, we consider you to have accepted the changed Policy. If you do not agree to this Policy, please do not access or use the Website. We will post a "LAST UPDATED" legend at the top of the Policy.

Under the European Data Protection Legislation (if it applies to you) and other applicable law, IHIA is the data controller responsible for the processing of your Personal Information collected from and through the Website. IHIA is the sole owner of any information collected on the Website. For certain Programs we administer for sponsors, IHIA is a data processor of Personal Information that is collected from applicants, participants, partners and others in connection with these Programs. This Policy applies to the Personal Information collected from and through the Website. IHIA Programs and sponsored Programs we administer may have additional or different data privacy policies and practices. These are disclosed at the points where data is collected for those Programs.

GDPR Terms and Conditions.

These are the Terms and Conditions ("Terms and Conditions") governing your use of this and other websites (the "Website"), operated by or on behalf of the International Homicide Investigators Association, Inc. (IHIA). Use of the Website is subject to these Terms and Conditions and to all applicable laws, and your use of the Website constitutes your agreement to these Terms and Conditions. If you do not agree to comply with these Terms and Conditions, you are not authorized to use the Website. As used herein, "you" or "your" shall mean the person or entity that accepts these Terms and Conditions, and "we", "us" or "our" shall mean IHIA.

These Terms and Conditions are subject to change from time to time in our sole discretion, and any changes will be effective immediately upon posting on the Website. You are responsible for regularly reviewing these Terms and Conditions so that you will be apprised of any changes.

You can determine when these Terms and Conditions were last revised by referring to the “LAST UPDATED” legend at the top of these Terms and Conditions. Your continued use of the Website after such changes will indicate your acceptance of such changes. We are committed to providing quality content to our visitors and encourage you to contact us if you have questions about these Terms and Conditions using the following:

Conditions of Use; Impermissible Use of the Website

The purpose of the Website is to provide information, educational resources, and communication with IHIA's constituency in higher education, the international development community, and other audiences in the United States and worldwide. All materials are copyrighted and are provided solely for personal and institutional purposes, and not for commercial use. We reserve the right to modify the Website and any of its content, and to restrict your access to all or any portion of the Website, at any time in our sole discretion. You agree to comply with all applicable laws when using this Website.

You may not use spiders, robots, data mining techniques or other automated devices or programs to catalog, download or otherwise reproduce, store, analyze or distribute content available on the Website. Further, you may not use any such automated means to manipulate the Website or attempt to exceed the limited authorization and access granted to you under these Terms and Conditions. You may not resell use of, or access to, the Website to any third party.

Registration

You may use the Website without registration, but in order to take advantage of or gain access to some aspects of the Website, you may need to register for an account or otherwise use a password. Any such account or means of access is solely for your personal use, you may not authorize others to use your account or password, and you may not assign or otherwise transfer your account or password to any other person or entity. All registration information about you must be truthful, and you may not use any aliases or other means to mask your true identity. You are responsible for the security of your password and will be solely liable for any use or unauthorized use under such password. By establishing an account with us, purchasing any goods or services through this Website, submitting any information to us.

User Content

IHIA may permit you and other users to upload, share, post, and/or view content in connection with features available on the Website ("User Content"). You hereby grant IHIA a perpetual, irrevocable, royalty-free license to use, display, catalog, modify, edit, adapt, compile or otherwise exploit any User Content posted or transmitted by you to or through any service on the Website. Furthermore, you expressly agree that IHIA shall own exclusive rights (including all intellectual property and other proprietary rights) to, and shall be free to use and disseminate, without restriction, any ideas, concepts, know-how, techniques, or advice contained in any User Content or communication you send to us, without compensation or attribution and for any purpose whatsoever, including but not limited to, developing, manufacturing and marketing products and services using such information. IHIA is under no obligation to screen or monitor User Content, but may review User Content from time to time at its sole discretion to review compliance with these Terms and Conditions. IHIA may include, edit or remove any User Content at any time without notice in our sole discretion. By posting or uploading User Content to this Website, you represent and warrant to us that you have all necessary rights to distribute User Content through this Website, and that doing so will not violate the rights of any third party.

Links to Third Party Sites

IHIA may provide links or references to third party websites that are not owned or controlled by us. We assume no responsibility for the content, terms and conditions, privacy policies, or practices of any third party websites. As an example, if you purchase any product or service available through the Website, you may be transferred to a website operated by a third party processor and be required to provide financial and other personal information to that third party processor. Any collection, processing, or use of information by such a third party is subject to that third party's terms of use and privacy policy, and we will not be responsible for their actions. By using this Website, you expressly release IHIA, and its officers, directors, employees, affiliates, licensors, business partners and agents, from any and all liability arising from your use of any third party website. If you leave this Website, you should review the terms and conditions, privacy policies, and other governing documents of each other website you visit.

Privacy Policy

Your use of the Website is also subject to the privacy policy posted on the Website at [<http://www.ihia.org>] Any such Privacy Policy is incorporated herein by reference.

Acceptable Use Policy (“AUP”)

You are solely responsible for the User Content that you post on the Website or transmit to other users (including via email) and agree that IHIA is not responsible or liable for any User Content from other users that you access on the Website. You may not upload or post any User Content to the Website unless you have the right to do so. You may not (and you agree not to) post any content or otherwise use this Website in any manner that: (i) is defamatory, abusive, obscene, profane or offensive (as determined by IHIA in its sole discretion); (ii) infringes or violates another party's intellectual property rights (such as music, videos, photos or other materials for which you do not have authority from the owner of such materials to post on the Website); (iii) violates any party's right of publicity or right of privacy (such as a photo of another person without their permission); (iv) is threatening or harassing (as determined by IHIA in its sole discretion); or (v) is illegal or violates any applicable law, rule, regulation, agreement or obligation. If IHIA determines, in its sole discretion, that you have violated any of the provisions of these Terms and Conditions, IHIA shall have the immediate right to terminate your access to this Website and any account or permissions associated with your use of the Website.

If you notice any violation of this AUP or other unacceptable behavior by any user, you should report such activity to IHIA.

Digital Millennium Copyright Act (“DMCA”) Notice

Materials may be made available via the Website by third parties not within our control. IHIA is under no obligation to scan content posted on the Website for the inclusion of illegal or impermissible content. However, IHIA respects the copyright interests of others. It is IHIA’s policy not to permit materials known by IHIA to infringe another party’s copyright to remain on the Website.

If you believe any material on the Website infringes a copyright, you should provide IHIA with written notice that at a minimum contains:

- A physical or electronic signature of a person authorized to act on behalf of the owner of an exclusive right that is allegedly infringed;
- Identification of the copyrighted work claimed to have been infringed, or, if multiple copyrighted works at a single online site are covered by a single notification, a representative list of such works at that site;
- Identification of the material that is claimed to be infringing or to be the subject of infringing activity and that is to be removed or access to which is to be disabled, and information reasonably sufficient to permit us to locate the material;
- Information reasonably sufficient to permit us to contact the complaining party, such as an address, telephone number, and, if available, an electronic mail address at which the complaining party may be contacted;
- A statement that the complaining party has a good faith belief that use of the material in the manner complained of is not authorized by the copyright owner, its agent, or the law; and
- A statement that the information in the notification is accurate, and under penalty of perjury, that the complaining party is authorized to act on behalf of the owner, of an exclusive right that is allegedly infringed.
